The Only Way Is Essex's vajazzler extraordinaire Amy Childs signs up to be the amazing curves of a new underwear range

We've loved the gorgeous Amy Childs from the second we first saw her on The Only Way Is Essex. She might have a voice that grates like soft cheese and struggle with the English language at times, but there's no denying that she's absolutely stunning. Now the 20-year-old has finally thrown off her clothes in her first-ever underwear shoot. She is posing up as the face of Caprice's new lingerie collection – the first collection by Caprice not to feature the model's own impressive curves.

Speaking about the Essex stunner, Caprice said: "Amy looks amazing in the new collection. She has amazing big Bamzai eyes, healthy curves and an incredible tush." And after hours of looking at these pictures, we can happily agree.

And these hot new snaps prove that Amy has upped the sexy stakes ahead of the next series of TOWIE. It is rumoured that the show will feature even more hot women, but it's hard to imagine them finding anyone hotter than Amy.

This sizzling shoot marks the start of Amy's modelling career and she has revealed how she has learned a lot from Caprice, stating: "She was teaching me how to pose! I felt really comfortable and confident in the underwear."

So it seems that Amy's career is going well. She's done a popular reality show (BBC) and she's modelled for a huge underwear campaign (BCK). But there's still one massive tick missing from that list: her very own ZOO cover shoot.

You name the time and place, Amy, and we'll be there...

Will the next Amy be a Geordie?

While The Only Way Is Essex guys are currently flying high, a UK remake of MTV show Jersey Shore could be ready to steal their crown as the best reality show on television – and it's going to be called Geordie Shore.

MTV said it's basing the brand-new series in the North-East, in which eight well-groomed twentysomethings share a house, because its party-hard, fun-loving locals know how to have a good time come rain or shine.

"Jersey Shore is set in the summer and it is always summer in the North-East," said Kerry Taylor, the director of television for MTV Networks UK and Ireland. "Geordie girls are always out in their miniskirts."

If it's anything like the much-watched Jersey Shore in the US, Geordie Shore will be full of sex, more sex and a lot of fake tanning. We. Carenot. Wait. ■ Geordie Shore will air on MTV in the UK in late spring or early summer
